Tiffany Bailey [1] Director

Tiffany is originally from Illinois and moved to North Carolina in 2005. She has a Masters of Science in Education from the Student Affairs in Higher Education program at Colorado State University. She has been working in the disability services profession since 2006. Tiffany was an Assistant Director, then Interim Director at UNC - Greensboro until 2010 when she came to UNC as the Assistant Director. In 2013, she was named the Director of the Office of Accessibility Resources & Service.

Tiffany was heavily involved in the NC Association on Higher Education and Disability (NC AHEAD) and served as the president of the organization from 2010 to 2011. She has presented both locally and nationally regarding best practices in disability services.

In her spare time, she enjoys cooking, marathon watching shows on Netflix and spending time with her child and fur children.

Memberships - NCAhead, Coalition for Disability Access in Health Science and Medical Education

Simon Bloor [3] Associate Director

Originally from Swadlincote in Derbyshire, England (just about as far as anyone can be from the sea in England), Simon joined Accessibility Resources & Service at UNC in 2014; his professional career in disability support services goes back to 1991.

Simon is a psychology graduate (University of Sheffield), has a post-graduate teaching certificate (Sheffield Hallam University), a Post-Graduate Diploma in Language and Communication Impairments in Children (University of Sheffield) and a Masters in Adult Education (East Carolina University).

Viviane Ackall [5] Accessibility Coordinator

Vivian is originally from Brazil. She has a Bachelor's in Speech Pathology & Audiology, a Post-Grad in Communication Disorders, and a Master's in Business Communication. Vivian joined UNC in September 2016 when she left her position of Director of the Accessibilities Services program at New Mexico State University Alamogordo. Vivian says that her vast experience in life and professionally helps her understand other people's points of views and to think "outside the box". Her name is really Viviane and it is pronounced Viv-ah-knee, but her mother always called her Vivian, so feel free to call her either Viviane or Vivian.

Scarlett Jordan [6] Testing Coordinator

Scarlett received her B.S. in Communication and Public Relations from Western Carolina University. She has worked for WCU's undergraduate admissions office, and has worked for Carolina in other departments. Scarlett worked in the Office for New Student and Family programs starting in December 2008, managing the project coordinators to support all student and parent programming. Scarlett transitioned to Testing Coordinator for Accessibility Resources & Service in September 2017. When not at her desk, Scarlett enjoys visiting museums and spending time with her daughter. She is working on a M.Ed. degree from NC State.

Lacey Singletary [8] Administrative Support Associate

Lacey received her B.A. in Communication from Queens University of Charlotte. Previously, Lacey worked in retail as an Assistant Sales Manager for Lacoste Boutique, as well as in the automotive industry as an Internet Sales Specialist. During her time at Queens, Lacey was a member of the Women's Basketball Team and volunteered at a nearby elementary school working with students with disabilities. She has been passionate about helping students ever since. In her spare time, Lacey enjoys attending or watching sporting events (especially basketball), traveling the world, and spending time with family and friends.
